

COMMUNITY UPDATE

When people visit JuxtaHub, they often remark how our board members are extremely involved in all aspects of our operation. As a new nonprofit, that "roll-up-your-sleeves" mentality has been essential.

As JuxtaHub grows, we are always looking for people willing to share their time and expertise. We are presently looking for an HR specialist who can help us identify more ways to involve volunteers in our growth and progress. Previous experience with non-profit startups is preferred, but not essential.

If you know someone who might be interested, we'd love to hear from you. Please contact JuxtaHub's board president, Shea Zukowski, at shea.zukowski@juxtahub.com for more information.

JUXTAHUB HELPS SPONSOR FILM FEST!

"HELPING the next generation of creatives in our community showcase their talent is definitely one of the reasons JuxtaHub came into existence," explains board president Shea Zukowski. "We are proud to see local traditions continue, and we look forward to the 18th annual student film festival that the Emmaus Arts Commission organizes, which we are helping to sponsor."

The festival, which is open to all middle and high school students, is designed to foster collaboration and creative decision-making. Self-selected teams must incorporate a line of dialogue and a particular prop into their original work, as well as a clear reference to Emmaus, either visually or through dialogue.

This year approximately 20 teams from the greater Lehigh Valley area have submitted entries for the competition. Judges are located all over the country from California to NY, judging remotely with many former EHS and local HS graduates participating as judges. They hold professions related to cinema, theater, and digital media. Presenters are local Emmaus residents, theater directors, collegiate-level instructors, actors, comedians, and sound engineers.

The red carpet event will feature all student films, nominations, and awards. Tickets are open to the general public and are available at the door for $8. Doors open at 6pm. All proceeds support the festival and the Arts Commission.

This festival has always been about celebrating the creativity, teamwork, and accomplishments of the middle school - high school aged individuals in our community. We hope to see you there! To learn more go to emmausarts.org.

JuxtaHub SPOTLIGHT .... Lindsey Kleinberg

AS Vice President of the Emmaus Arts Commission, you've probably experienced Lindsey's work around the borough. She co-chairs the fundraising committee, and has a big hand in local events like Art in the Garden, SnowBlast, community painting projects, and the Annual Student Film Festival.

Excited to be a part of a thriving art community, she's a natural fit as board member at JuxtaHub. She says, "Emmaus has a rich history of culture and art and needs a space that integrates intergenerational exploration of creative endeavors, a celebration of the arts in all forms, and the modernization of art in the forms of virtual and augmented reality.”

A firm believer in community arts, Lindsey believes, “An artful community is a place where progress occurs.” Her passion is evidenced by her lifelong involvement to different creative pursuits. As a child, Lindsey was always creating. She followed an art/design track through her time at Emmaus High School, and earned a BS degree in graphic design from Drexel. She holds a master’s degree in education from Temple University with multiple teaching certifications including art education.

In her work with JuxtaHub, Lindsey has been a vital member of the Artist Working Group, which is drafting guidelines and policies for our studio spaces and helping to build a creative culture that encourages and celebrates interdisciplinary work. She has also helped JuxtaHub secure greater visibility by participating in local events and meeting new artists.

How does Lindsey see her efforts complement one another? Lindsey explains, “Art is the thread that holds everything together... It can be seen in my selection of ingredients, my techniques, my application of thought, and my juxtaposition of art, nature, spirit, and bodies of work. Without it, I would be lost.” 🌀

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED FOR DIGITAL MAKER SPACE PROJECT

space was home to Bicycling Magazine's extensive bike collection.

In the next few months, John will be organizing a few work days to get the space ready (and we promise we'll fill you in on the news as soon as it's official).

Follow us on Facebook for more details about our scheduled workdays if you are interested in lending a hand. Alternately, if you prefer to receive an email message instead, just drop us a message at contact@juxtahub.com or leave a message by phone and someone will reach out to you with more information. 🌀

OVER the past few months, JuxtaHub founding board member John Oetting has been putting together some exciting plans in our Digital Maker Space and Metaverse Lab. It's still a little early for us to unveil the news for what's in store, but part of the project involves sprucing up the walls, which haven't seen a fresh coat of paint since the
